BakerRipley to Host Aldine ISD School Board Candidate Forum

HOUSTON – The future of education in the Aldine Independent School District (AISD) is a topic of great importance to our community, and a chance to engage with the candidates vying for positions on the AISD School Board is just around the corner. Hosted by BakerRipley in collaboration with the Green Forest Civic Club of East Aldine, the Aldine ISD School Board Candidate Forum promises an evening of insight and dialogue.

The forum, scheduled for October 12 at the BakerRipley East Aldine Community Center, is designed to provide Aldine area residents with the opportunity to connect with the individuals seeking to represent their interests on the school board ahead of the upcoming November election. At the Aldine ISD School Board Candidate Forum, attendees will have the chance to:

Meet the Candidates: Get to know the individuals running for positions on the AISD School Board and hear their views on district policies and spending that directly impact our students.

Ask Questions: Engage in meaningful conversations with the candidates and inquire about their vision for the future of AISD.

Access Spanish Interpretation: Spanish interpretation services will be available to ensure that all members of our diverse community can fully participate in the event.

This forum is a unique opportunity for parents, students, educators and community members to gain a better understanding of the candidates' positions and priorities. By participating in this event, attendees play a crucial role in shaping the future of education in Aldine ISD. For more information, contact communications@bakerripley.org.
